GRAF RACES TOWARD MOSCOW

Today

Once More—Come West.
Long Life, Sunshine.
Power Unlimited.
Farrell, Sloan, Ford.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Aug. 15.—In making plans for travel to California, Americans should remember that California is a summer resort as well as a winter resort.

Today, in this city the climate is much like that of New York in the middle of June—cool, bracing.

YOU should come west, see everything between the two oceans, then travel industriously up and down the American side of this biggest ocean.

S. W. STRAUS, intelligent American who started in Chicago and has spread all over the country, came out here and made a few purchases about nine years ago. He bought among other things 22 acres on Wilshire boulevard for $300,000. He has been offered, and has refused, $2,000,000 for a strip 150 feet deep and 600 feet long, on the boulevard. If he sold that, he would have 20 of his 22 acres left, with plenty of room for his Ambassador Hotel.

THE Biltmore Hotel opened its new addition, adding 500 rooms last year, and is crowded already. A new hotel, 40 stories in height, is planned for Wilshire boulevard. This city moves forward, and its population of 1,400,000 grows like a rolling snowball.

A SEAT on the Los Angeles stock exchange cost $30,000 three years ago. It costs $150,000 today. You may remember that this column suggested a seat as a profitable purchase.

LOS ANGELES stores like stores in New York and Chicago are establishing branches outside of the congested downtown districts. "Bullock's," an ably managed store, has opened a big branch in the residence and retail district of Wilshire boulevard, called Bullock's Wilshire Boulevard.

WHEN George Young, of the Los Angeles Examiner, and Dr. Barham, of the Los Angeles Herald, were urging day in and day out the building of the Boulder dam it was said that the cost could not be paid off in fifty years, because "southern California could not absorb 1,000,000 horsepower so quickly."

Dr. Elwood Mead, in charge of the dam building, under the Secretary of the Interior, told Denver, yesterday, that the National Government has received from the Los Angeles municipal plant, the Southern California Edison Company, and other power companies, bids for double the power available from the proposed dam.

It is now suggested that the dam be built 25 feet higher, greatly increasing its power supply. And soon another dam farther up will have to be constructed to supply more power.

THESE details of profit and progress may sound sordid. But they interest everybody in the United States.

The forty-eight states are one. Whatever helps any part of the United States helps the whole country. And whatever hurts any place or person hurts everybody.

TO SAY that millions of people in the east could find on this coast long life, plenty of sunshine, a perfect climate, summer and winter, fertile soil, unlimited power, is to send good news to the whole country.

EVERYBODY is glad to hear that his uncle in Australia is doing well, he MAY get some of that uncle's money.

Everybody should be glad to hear that his brother Americans in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, all along the whole coast, are doing well. He is CERTAIN to share in that growing prosperity.

GREAT industrialists of the United States, Alfred Sloan, Jr., the head of General Motors; Henry Ford; President Farrell of the United States Steel corporation, should and eventually will establish important plants on this coast.

Many of them have made a start. GENERAL MOTORS has assembling plants up and down the coast, so has Henry Ford.

The United States Steel Corporation has bought the Columbia Steel company, most important on the coast, with headquarters in San Francisco. Mr. Farrell evidently knows that there is cheap power and plenty of iron here. If necessary he can bring his special ties from Cuba all the way by water to cheap power plants on the edge of the Pacific.

SEE this country, all of it, between the two oceans, from Canada to Mexico.

You can come by many railroads, by ship through the Canal, or by any one of 24,000,000 American automobiles.

NO EXCUSE FOR NOT COMING.

Eight Die As Storms Sweep Philadelphia

FOUR KILLED BY LIGHTNING; FOUR DROWNED

Property Damage Will Run Into Six Figures.

OLEY ZONE HIT

Three Lose Lives When Auto Goes Into River.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Eight fatalities and property damage that will run into six figures were attributed today either directly or indirectly to the serious of severe electrical storms that swept this vicinity in the last 24 hours. Four of the deaths were due to lightning and four to drownings.

Five Storms Exact Damage.

Five storms swept the city alone beginning with a torrential downpour in the afternoon and continuing until far past midnight. The fertile Oley valley in eastern Berks county also was hard hit for the second day in succession.

Three of the drownings took place at the height of the downpour last night when an automobile, containing four persons, was swept into a bridge over the Delaware river near pier 75 here. The rain blinded the driver.

The first death from lightning occurred when James Thompson, a gardener from Wayne, was killed while working on an estate in Bryn Mawr. A short time later Arthur Variell, a roofer, was killed by another bolt while at work.

Oil Goes Up In Flames.

Two other persons were killed, another paralyzed and a third seriously injured by a bolt which struck a peach-packing plant at Hammington, N. J. The dead: Tony Ordielle, 22, of Hammington, and Annie Garrard, 21, of Alamo, Ga. Miss Garrard was a Georgia school teacher who came north to spend the summer with relatives. She was working in the plant to obtain extra money for her wedding wardrobe.

About 14,000 gallons of crude oil went up in flames at Boothwyn, near Chester, when fire broke out in the wake of a bolt of lightning.

Ironstone creek that winds through the Sleepy Oley valley in eastern Berks county again left its banks following the torrential downpour that swept over that section for the second day in succession. Boyertown again was hard hit and thousands of acres of land were inundated. Several families were reported marooned near Maryville while a dam was threatened with destruction at Colebrookdale.

PROSPERITY ERA SEEN BY AYRES

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Continued prosperity for the remainder of the year is the encouraging picture painted by Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, prominent Cleveland banker and economist, in a business review issued today. "It still seems probable that the figures for industrial output and for profits in the third quarter will reach new high levels in many lines, and it is beginning to appear almost equally sure that the momentum or activity and of confidence will carry through to the end of the year in enough lines to insure a long list of new high annual records for 1929 in trade, industry, transportation and finance," Col. Ayres said.

The autumn and holiday trade of retail stores and mail order houses promises to be better this year than ever before.

Convict Killed in Mutiny
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 15.—(INS)—One prisoner was killed and two other prisoners and 12 guards were wounded when a mutiny broke out among 130 convicts in the prison at Kielce today. The guards fired upon the mutineers, quelling the disturbance after some fighting.

ZEP MASCOTS

Ernest Lehman, navigator of the Graf Zeppelin, never ventures aloft in the great gray ship without his mascots, shown below.

They have accompanied him on two trans-Atlantic flights besides being on their way around the world. They really must be good talkers, because the Graf's crewmen, because of the "little green dog" that lead to the electric chair.

Reporters Visit Cell.
The "poker-faced," steel-nerved "hammer slayer" was reading a magazine when visited by reporters. He was unperturbed, as usual.

"Have you any statement to make?" he was asked.

"No," he replied, "before I could do anything like that I would have to consult my counsel."

"Did you tell everything about this case when you were on the stand?" was another question.

"No," he answered, "I have lots left over. There are salient facts yet to be told."

He reminded his audience that his "affair" with Miss Hix lasted three years whereas he "had only six or eight hours to tell it."

He evidently meant his direct examination for he had been on the witness stand 17 hours, including cross-examination.

Asked if he had recalled sitting the co-ed's throat with his pen knife he replied he had not.

Denies Divorce Rumor.
"Is there any truth to the report that Mrs. Snook plans to divorce you?" he was asked.

"No indeed," he retorted. "She was in court yesterday, wasn't she?"

Snook refused to comment upon the divorce.

SNOOK IS CALM AS HE AWAITS DEATH CHAIR

Convicted Slayer of Theora Hix is Denied Mercy.

SHOWS NO WORRY

Prisoner is Silent on Plans for New Trial.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLAN.
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15.—Dr. James Howard Snook is today a doomed man.

Death in the electric chair will be the inglorious end of the Philadelphia professor who hammered and slashed Miss Theora Hix, his co-ed sweetheart, to death on a lonely rifle range on the night of June 13. He will be compelled to make that ominous march to the "chair," right trower leg slithering from the knee down, much in the same manner as have Judd Gray, the sashweight slayer, Paul Jaworski, the Pennsylvania "killer" and other comparatively recent notorious murderers.

But the doctor isn't worrying about it. He made that plain in an interview in his cell at the county jail today.

"I haven't thought about it," he said Snook when asked how he felt about the prospect of entering "the little green door" that lead to the electric chair.

RICHARDSON LOSES 60 IN FINAL COUNT

Mayorality Candidate's Total Vote Cut To 444.

STEVENSON'S 640

Brokaw, for Judge, Leads Republican Ticket.

A. U. Richardson, who finished fourth in the contest for the Republican nomination for mayor at Tuesday's primaries, lost 60 votes in the official tabulation completed by the county election board at Lisbon last night.

The semi-official count gave Richardson 504 votes but this was cut to 444 by the official tabulation. The change was due to a transposition in figures in Precinct A of the Third ward, where Richardson was credited with 74 votes, whereas he had polled but 14.

Votes of R. E. Stevenson, winner, who polled 640 and O. J. Herington, runner-up, with 597, were unchanged. Otto Kommel, who finished third, gained one vote, the tabulation giving him 536. Gains were also made by Allen A. Burrows and A. V. Gilbert.

Benedum's Majority 124.
Majority of R. C. Benedum over J. C. B. Beatty for the Democratic mayorality place was reduced from 130 to 124. Mayor Benedum, seeking his third term, lost five votes, while Beatty gained one in the official count.

Mrs. Pansy Hargreaves McDonnell, who was defeated by A. Earl Edwards for the Republican nomination for clerk of municipal court, gained 83 votes, while her opponent added 19. Mrs. McDonnell's official vote was 1,251, of which 12 were polled in the two township precincts, while that of Edwards was 2,400, including 23 given him by township electors. These were the only offices for which township electors voted.

Attorney Harry Brokaw, unopposed for the Republican nomination for municipal judge, led the ticket with 2,256 votes. Mayor Benedum received the highest vote.

DANZIG GOES WILD AS HUGE CRAFT PASSES

Whistles Scream God-speed on Round-world Flight.

HOP FOR TOKIO

Americans Aboard Zeppelin on Second Leg of Trip.

(Copyright, 1929, International News Service)

ON BOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, Aug. 15.—(Via Direct Radio)—The staid old city of Danzig, which was severed from Germany by the terms of the Versailles treaty, literally went wild today when the Graf Zeppelin passed over its checkerboard area at 2:55 o'clock this afternoon (8:55 a. m. East Liverpool time).

Beeline for Koenigsberg.
With whistles screaming, flags, handkerchiefs, bunting and hats wildly waving in the hands of enthusiastic residents, the free city of Danzig, accorded the Graf a more tumultuous reception than was received from any German city, not excepting Berlin.

After passing Danzig, Dr. Eckener, commander of the Graf, laid his course on a beeline for Koenigsberg. The Zeppelin was then making speed of 65 miles per hour, with but four of her five motors operating. The fifth motor was cut out to conserve the Graf's fuel supply.

The Graf reached the Baltic at 3:00 P. M., and should be over Moscow by dawn tomorrow. All on board were happy over the good progress made.

All on board is going well and the passengers are enjoying the magnificent panorama of scenery spread out beneath the ship.

Save Fuel on Flight
When we left Friedrichshafen this morning some of the passengers were sleepy and, as nothing could be seen in the darkness, they went to bed.

William B. Leeds, of New York; Joachim B. Richard, of Boston; and Lieutenant J. C. Richardson, of the United States Navy air service were still asleep when the ship passed over Berlin at 10:40 A. M.

It was a thrilling view when we crossed the suburbs of Berlin and then flew across the city with the streets and squares lying beneath us like a chess board.

Only four of the motors were working to save fuel. After leaving Berlin our route took us towards Danzig by way of Stettin.

WATCHMAN FREE IN OHIO KILLING

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 15.—(INS)—Although he shot and killed a man Tuesday, Clayton Lathrop, local night watchman, is a free man here today.

Lathrop, self-admitted slayer of Mickie Doner, was ordered released from police custody by County Coroner F. G. Kreft, who, after a day's investigation, described the slaying as a "self-defense" killing.

The night watchman shot and killed Doner in the offices of the company in which he is employed. Witnesses declared that Doner, following a heated quarrel, had threatened Lathrop with a bread knife.

Broken Rest Is Nature's Danger Signal

Thousands of men and women are running grave risks of broken health and lowered vitality by allowing frequent night calls (which generally indicate a weakness or irritation of the bladder) to rob them of sleep and rest.

Dr. Dickson, a graduate physician, with over forty years' practice, has had prepared after his formula a treatment, called Dr. Dickson's Compound, for bladder and kidney disorders. This treatment has proven so effective that all sufferers from bladder weakness, sluggish kidneys, pains in back or legs, burning, scalding elimination, are urged to give it a thorough test. Try it at our risk, only 65c. Money back if not satisfied.

TO THE VOTERS OF EAST LIVERPOOL

In my open campaign for the preservation of Sunday, the enforcement of the constitution, and all laws with equal justice for all, I wish to thank each and every one of you for your loyal support, and hope you will continue to work and support the above principles.

With best wishes to all,

I remain respectfully yours,

FLOYD LONG.

Skin troubles—pimples, boils, eczema and sallow complexion are usually but symptoms of a deeper, more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red cells in the blood.

No one can afford pimples

HAPPY is the woman who has a clear, smooth, flawless skin! Both men and women admire such captivating loveliness.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

The way to the Skin is through the Blood

Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red blood cells.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of pimples, boils, eczema and such skin troubles, you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Sidewalk Painting

With the primary election out of the way, party nominees enjoying a respite from the strains of vote-seeking and electors returning to their ordinary pursuits until the heat of the fall fight revives interest, there is no better time than the present to direct attention to the practice of decorating sidewalks with the names of persons seeking political preferment.

Virtually every street corner in the business district as well as stretches of paving in zones near voting places were painted during the recent canvass with appeals to support "John Smith" or "Bill Jones," and the so-called artistic campaign was not confined to one office. The offenders were candidates for places at the top as well as the bottom of the tickets.

And overzealous friends were not particular regarding the paint, and some of the signs probably will be under the feet of pedestrians until November, judging from experiences in bygone years. Neither was any consideration given the fact that such signs are not pleasing to the eye at any time.

A few years ago, councilman action was taken against the practice of painting a concrete wall on Pennsylvania avenue in East End. This was necessary because the art meant nothing from a scenic standpoint, not to mention the poor taste of those responsible.

A city ordinance now prohibits tack signs on telephone, power and trolley wire poles. There is just as much argument in favor of action against sidewalk painting.

Two Great Air Warships

The Graf Zeppelin has figured so largely in print, of late, that attention is naturally directed to the two great dirigibles to be constructed in Akron, each of which will greatly exceed it in size and power.

Unlike the Graf Zeppelin, which is an engine of peace, the two air monsters for the United States navy are ships of war. The exterior cabins and motors which have been features of all dirigibles thus constructed will be missing in the two American airships. Nothing will show outside the cigar-shaped hulls save the propellers and controls. Not only will they be armed, but they will also carry inside their hulls five planes each, which will be able to take off from the big airships and, returning, hook onto them and be hauled inside.

Each of the American airships will be 785 feet long against the 776 feet of the German Zeppelin with a useful carrying power of 182,000 pounds compared with the Graf Zeppelin's 140,000. The diameter of each will be 142.5 feet to the 100.1 feet of the German ship, and the gas volume will be 6,500,000 cubic feet to the Eckener craft's 3,708,000. Each will have eight engines of 4,480 combined horsepower while the combined horsepower of the five motors of the Graf Zeppelin is but 2,550, and thus each will surpass our recent visitor in both speed and cruising range.

Until recent years American air armament has been very weak, notably so when compared with those of France, Italy and Great Britain, but in the last two years Uncle Sam seems to have awakened to the need for the development of a real air armament, and at last there are indications that our air defense may soon show a stride in keeping with that we have made in commercial aviation.

Blessings In Disguise

Droughts, killing frosts in growing seasons and excessive moisture, usually considered the three outstanding bugbears of the farmer, who is largely dependent on weather conditions for his livelihood, sometimes may come as blessings in disguise.

Take, for instance, the large crop of winter wheat which was only slightly injured by drought conditions. Statisticians have gathered figures tending to show that although this year's crop will indicate a decrease of more than 135 million bushels as compared with last year's, there will be a considerable increase in value.

Last year the United States produced approximately 962,749,000 bushels of wheat having a total value to the farmers of $910,728,000. This year, revised estimates place the yield at 767,000,000 bushels with a value, at present prices, of about $946,119,000, an increase of about $54,000,000.

Due to the so-called paradox of value, as illustrated by this year's smaller crop of wheat having a higher value than last year's larger crop, farmers of the United States have prospects of increased profits this year if there is no further reduction in the crop and if prices remain near their present levels.

In Canada, however, the outlook for the farmer is not so bright. There, spring wheat predominates, and the crop was seriously affected by drought conditions. The estimated yield of 550,000,000 bushels has shrunk until today the best estimates place the yield at not to exceed 250,000,000 bushels, as compared with last year's bumper crop of 533,873,709 bushels, which had a value of $426,013,000.

Even with today's increased prices of wheat, the total value of the Canadian crop will fall far short of the high record reached a year ago. In fact, the crop of 250,000,000 bushels, at present prices, will give the farmers an income of $287,500,000, a loss to them of $139,513,000 as against last year's record.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15.—Recent news from Moscow to the effect that Jan Rudzinski, reputed to stand next to Stalin as the head of political affairs in Soviet Russia, formally stated to an American delegation that some adjustment might be made of the debt of the Kerensky regime to the United States government, has brought a new ray of hope to Russian creditors throughout the world. Alexander Kerensky was the Dictator of Russia for a brief period following the revolution in 1917. Politically, Kerensky was somewhat moderate, standing midway between the absolutism of the Czarist government and the communism of the Soviets. The latter force eventually overthrew Kerensky and nationalized the country.

On January 21, 1918, with the Soviets firmly in the saddle, they issued a decree declaring "unconditionally and without exception, all foreign loans are annulled." The decree included loans of semi-private railways and private enterprises which had, to some extent, been fostered by the Czarist government and which loans had been guaranteed by that government. Of course, all bonds issued by cities and private industrial concerns were repudiated.

The statement of Rudzinski was that Russia would entertain overtures for the adjustment of the Kerensky debt to the United States (and presumably to other creditors) on the basis of concessions to be granted, transfers of goods, or money payments. Coupled with the fact that the controversy over the Chinese Eastern Railway has brought about diplomatic negotiations which very likely will include consideration of Russian foreign debts, the Rudzinski statement has caused foreign bondholders to feel some hope for the first time in many years.

Russia still obstinately refuses to recognize any foreign indebtedness contracted prior to December 1, 1917, but this suggestion that she is willing to talk about the Kerensky debt appears to many observers to be an entering wedge. The particularly appears so in view of the fact that at the Geneva conference in 1922, the Russian government of Churchill's regime proposed that it would discuss the funding of Russian foreign debts, excepting war debts, provided Russia's counterclaims were admitted, the one group of claims being weighed against the other.

Russia's counterclaims were declared by the Russian delegation to amount to $50,000,000,000. For certain concessions, the Moscow diplomats stated, they would scale these down to $25,000,000,000. Inasmuch as the outside claims against Russia amounted to only $13,000,000,000 and that even under the scaled-down figure Russia would be the winner by billions, the proposal was rejected. Other governments obviously were not going into a deal to collect debts due from Russia which could have no other issue than a reversal of the position; that is, with the outside countries owing Russia. The whole thing was utterly one-sided.

Russia's war debt—that is in 1914—is estimated by competent authorities at $114,500,000,000, by no means a heavy debt for a nation of Russia's population and resources. Guaranteed loans of non-government enterprises raised this figure to $2,500,000,000,000 approximately. The war debt, contracted between August 1914 and November, 1917, amounted to $3,850,000,000. Inasmuch as some of the amounts can only be estimated the round sum of $6,000,000,000 may fairly be stated as the foreign debt of Russia.

The Russian debt to the United States government at present is $250,000,000, of which about $95,000,000 is accrued interest.

For the waging of her part in the World War, Russia borrowed in the United States not alone from the United States treasury. She placed private loans with bankers and others which aggregate about $100,000,000. There was a $50,000,000 loan at 6 1/2 per cent and $25,000,000 loan at 5 1/2 per cent placed with big banking syndicates. About $11,000,000 of the Czar's 2,000,000,000 ruble loan of 1916, offered throughout the world, is held by American citizens who purchased the bonds as investments. Odd lots of other Russian bonds including bonds of Russian cities make up the approximate total of $100,000,000 of Russian government securities privately held here.

In view of the fact that the big banking syndicates who underwrote the government loans sold them to American citizens in good faith means that some thousands of individual investors lost what they were thus contributing to help wage Russia's war against Germany and the other central powers. The Russia bonds were rapidly sold here. Long before the United States entered the World War in 1917, the American people were largely pro-Ally, although technically neutral. To buy a Russian bond, a French bond, an English bond, or the bond of any of the Allies was an action not dissimilar from the patriotic action of buying a Liberty bond after the United States entered the war and became, in fact, an ally of Russia.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, August 15.—The small town invariably peeps through the most sophisticated strips of this rock-filled island. Perhaps the most colorful world found on that teeming block of West 47th street between 6th avenue and Broadway.

It is where the sucker never gets a break and is lined with dim lit hotels, speak easy chop houses, upstairs dice games and downstairs take joints. After midnight it is filled with kimonaded ladies followed by shaggy poodles, shifty eyed men with hats down and coat collars up—ships that pass in the night.

This block was the scene of perhaps the greatest bit of cruelty the town has ever known. Drunkard rosters tossed an inoffensive waiter from a ninth story window to the roof below and to permanent invalidism. His sidewalks have frequently run red with blood.

And yet in the mid center of the block is a gypsy fortune teller, the sort featured with carnival shows, who does a land office business in a room with tented decorations. An old time Indian herb doctor and a long haired prophet who sells charms have flourished in the block for years.

For six years now a freak show and flea circus have played to capacity business in the heart of 42nd street's theatrical zone. Within a stone's throw are 11 of the best known theaters exhibiting the most famous of the current theatrical hits.

In the shadows of the Hippodrome, a block from Broadway, are three penny arcades with shooting gallery attachments, peep machines and car tube phonographs. In the neighborhood of the Winter Garden are four slot machine photograph parlors always overflowing.

The shrewdest street fakers declare Fifth avenue, if the police did not shoot them away, is the most prolific of all streets for a curbstone pitch. An hour there unlooted is good for a ten-dollar take. In other words, remove the New Yorker's spats and behold the yard!

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Only a few years ago typhoid fever was one of the most common and most fatal of diseases. Today, it is almost never met, certainly not in a well-ordered community.

How can any educated person sneer at the germ theory of disease and scoff about what the laboratory has done for the world? What has been done in the control of typhoid fever alone, should be enough to convince the most sceptical that society owes an overwhelming debt of gratitude to the bacteriologist.

When I was a medical student we used to hear dreadful tales of the decimation of communities by this dread disease. The bullets of the Spanish war did little harm but the germs of typhoid killed thousands.

Fortunately for the world, the control of typhoid had been learned before the advent of the World War. What was so terrible a scourge in previous wars was of little importance in this one. Because of the means of protection provided by the medical corps, the armies escaped it.

The typhoid germ or bacillus is a vigorous and hardy one. In the presence of moisture it will live for months. Even in river or harbor water it will remain alive for weeks. One writer states that the bacillus has lived in a sealed tube for more than a dozen years. When typhoid infected water freezes, the germ will live in the ice for a period of three or four months.

The germ finds its way into the human body through food or drink. Water, milk, contaminated vegetables, and other articles of food may carry the bacillus. Careless food handling is responsible for most cases of typhoid fever.

The person who has once had the disease may be spreading the germs of typhoid for months or even years after full recovery has taken place. Examination of the fecal matter or the urine may reveal them. In some reported cases they have been discovered by such examination years after the patient had the disease.

The "typhoid carrier" usually has a colony of germs growing in the gall bladder. A notable example of this sort is "Typhoid Mary," who has been under quarantine for years, because of the large number of cases of typhoid traced to her.

Every case of typhoid fever means that somebody else had the disease and had passed it on to the present victim. This may be done through food or drink, or possibly the contagion may be carried by flies.

The doctor and nurse will impress upon the members of the family, and all the servants the very great importance of guarding against the transmission of typhoid. If the first patient is properly cared for, that will be the end of the typhoid flurry in that particular family.

It is absolutely essential that the secretions and excretions of the typhoid patient be destroyed. This precaution must continue until after repeated examinations it has been determined that all evidence of the disease has disappeared. Not until then can the victim be released from observation.

Other Editors Say

Sincerity and Artifice.

Every day, on every hand, we are brought face to face with sincerity or artifice in our relations with others. In ourselves we express the one or the other, but only the one is worth while. As some one has put it: "The well beloved are those whose desire to help is unaffected as it is benign. They are dear and good because they know no other tongue. Their lives are a continuous sacrifice; they go like moths for ambulations where they are needed, and bring first aid to those injured in ways beyond the reach of implements and bottles. They do not know their faces shine, and that in communion with the angels is looking from their eyes."

And there are plenty of the well beloved in this world, in this city. Unfortunately, there are also vast numbers who substitute artifice for sincerity, sham for the truth. These are untiring in their practice of self-praise; it sounds sweet in their own ears, and they affect to believe that it sounds sweet in the ears of others—so they live. They indulge in a false and seductive flattery, which may appeal, but which does not proceed from goodness of the heart.

How splendid life might be if sincerity only were the rule!—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ROGERS SCORES IN TALKING HIT

He was branded a coward and a weakling because he would not fight a duel according to the custom of the south. He was deserted in love by the girl to whom he had been betrothed. He was an outcast from the circle of southern society in which he lived in the early 1840's.

Yet, he fought back bravely and won the confidence of his friends and family—and gained the true love of the girl who never deserted her trust in his ability to make good.

In that substance, is the role portrayed by Charles "Buddy" Rogers in his newest all-talking Paramount picture, "River of Romance," which comes to the Ceramic theater for three days beginning today.

It is the most colorful part Buddy has been assigned since his phenomenal success in Paramount's "Wings." He is seen as the central heroic figure in the picture, which is based upon the tremendously popular story, "Magnolia" by Booth Tarkington.

Mary Brian is the leading female player in the production. It is her first appearance in support of "America's Boy Friend" in a dialog film and her second talking picture. Rogers' first all-talking production was the smash-hit "Close Harmony" with Nancy Carroll.

A brilliantly talented cast offers further support for Rogers in "River of Romance." Among them are Wallace Beery, Henry B. Walthall, Fred Kohler, June Collyer, Mrs. George Fawcett, Natalie Kingston, Walter McGrail and Anderson Lawler.

NEW LOVE TEAM AT AMERICAN

A new romantic team is on the screen at the State theater today, where Billie Dove's newest starring vehicle for First National, "The Man and the Moment," will be shown.

Rod LaRocque, one of the most popular leading men in Hollywood, is seen opposite Miss Dove in this hectic love story from the pen of Elinor Glyn. LaRocque was chosen to play this important role because of his romantic appeal and histrionic ability.

"The Man and the Moment" is a typical Glyn love story interwoven with jazz parties and fast living. Gwyn Lee, the popular blonde actress, is seen as the "other woman" in the story.

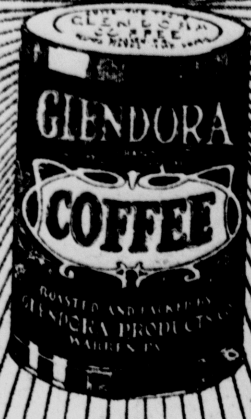

The picture provides the beautiful Miss Dove with some exotic background, and is expected to prove one of the big hits of the present season in this city.

With the combination of Billie Dove as star, Rod LaRocque as male lead, Miss Glyn as author and Fitzmaurice as director, First National seems to have achieved the ultimate in modern pep and jazz.

When landslides recently closed the highway between San Miguel and Ibagu, Columbia, to automobiles, the primitive custom of mule-back transportation was revived.

YOU AND ME BETWEEN BY JOAN.

Many good, kind-hearted people are not especially refined, and not all refined people are good-hearted and desirable.

Last week we were privileged to see Walter Hagen, Horton Smith and Bill Melhorn play in a golf match and overheard a spectator say to another, "Last year I repudiated a client who sought recognition being hit with a golf ball driven from number 5." The other gentleman replied "I've carried this form of insurance for several years. The cost is so trifling—no one can afford to be without it." You golfers who are long on the drive—do you carry this protection? No? Better ask Lee C. Cooper about it.

Now folks, if you'll just make a mental note of this little paragraph, Frank Diamond has a complete line of Men's shirts and neckwear—that is delightfully different. And just a word about sweaters—if you admire the plain colors, you'll find some choice ones here, knitted of soft virgin wool. Among those of figured designs and stripes of brilliant hues—believe me—there are some beauties.

Does your bathroom need a new note of freshness? Ensemble it fashionably with the colorful new pieces to be found in the curtain department at Ogilvie's. I know you will be delighted with these dainty covers—three pieces comprise the set—one for stool and commode—the other to be used as a bath-mat. Made of Terry cloth they come in shades that will harmonize with the walls, curtains or linens. One will find them washable and of pleasure giving durability.

The show, the ride, or an afternoon bridge will prove doubly delightful if one knows that at home are delicious cooling drinks and dainty frozen salads—in fact the most important parts of the meal are already prepared by the Frigidatic. What other household device works so willingly during one's absence? And always to perfection—that's the beauty and comfort of a Frigidatic and just another reason why you should visit the Crookery City Ice & Products company and see the new models, now on display. There are various designs and sizes, each with the new Cold Control as part of its equipment.

One needn't be a rooster, to crow about Grease Palace and Milliron Oil and Gas company. No need! All that's required of one is driving the car down to Grease Palace and allowing it to "roost" there long enough to be rejuvenated with high grade Motor-oil. It will prove itself the most efficient, the longest-lasting and the most economical lubricant your motor and pocket-book have ever known. In the face of all this how could one refrain from crowing, and that quite lustily?

In your living room is there an empty space or two where you might use an occasional table or a pull-up chair? A new piece of furniture here and there will have a tonic effect in any home and hasten with the glad news that all end tables, console tables of subtly finished walnut and mahogany, and just every type of table imaginable are now carrying 25% reductions. This August furniture sale at The Frank Crook company is just the thing that homes need to keep them modern and abreast of the times. I trust you'll make an early visit as I'd like you to see this superb assortment while it is so complete.

If your permanent has grown out—you are probably planning another. If so, you want the loveliest possible, which means, of course, that you call the Stern Beauty Shoppe for an appointment. Their system leaves the hair soft, glossy and with a beautiful texture. Their general parlor work is of the finest too. Everything is done with that ease and care which denotes expert service.

Are you a lover of nature? Do you ever watch the sun rise and set and think how wonderful it all is? Can you find pictures in clouds and trees? Try it and you'll fall in love with life. ## Duty of States is Debated at University, Va.

UNIVERSITY, Va., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Two diametrically opposed views concerning the duty of the states in enforcing prohibition were put before the Institute of Public Affairs today.

One came from Governor Albert C. Ritchie (D.) of Maryland, and was a complete denial that the states are under any obligation, legal or moral, to enforce federal prohibition within their borders.

The other was presented by Dr. J. M. Doran, the federal prohibition commissioner, who declared that under the eighteenth amendment the states are legally and morally bound to assist the federal government. And unless they do so, he said, the federal government must expand its facilities and discharge every enforcement function, great and small.

If he felt in any way apprehensive over the prospect of going to his death in the electric chair he concealed it well beneath his icy exterior. His appetite remains good. He ate a hearty meal of pork and beans an hour after he heard the verdict and this morning partook of a substantial breakfast.

His attorneys who, incidentally, predicted he would never "burn," are preparing to make a final desperate effort to save him from the chair. They will file motion for a new trial on Saturday. Judge Henry L. Scarlett, who presided at the trial, probably will grant a hearing on the motion next Monday. If he should overrule the motion on that day, the judge in all likelihood will immediately set the date when Snook will be executed.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

By W. S. Cousins, International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Most sections of the stock market were held down in the early trading today by another flood of profit-taking sales, which blocked the advance of all stocks that have been bursting through the roof since the turn of the month. American Can, the First National bank, was able to go through to 123 7/8, for a gain of about 4 1/2 points and a new high record price at the start, and General Electric boomed along 2 3/4 to 39 3/4 before meeting with much opposition.

High-priced industrials and specialties exhibited uncertainty as buying orders thinned out, particularly in all circles outside of the professional ring. The "tired feeling" which usually follows a spectacular uprush of prices was reported from the floor of the exchange and speculators were not rushing in to buy stocks as they have been doing since last Friday's break. Call money renewed at 7 per cent, and Wall Street was noted that before the end of the month the call loan rate would be below the 6 per cent Reserve bank rediscount rate.

MAN AND WIFE KNIFE VICTIMS

Suspect's Body Found After Chicago Woman Dies.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Searchers today discovered the body of Clarence Flenner, sought for the murder of his wife, in the woods near the spot where Mrs. Flenner had been found mortally wounded yesterday.

Flora Eva, 21, his wife and mother of their 2-year-old daughter, was found dying from three knife wounds as she lay beneath the wreckage of an overturned automobile.

"My husband did it," she sobbed just before her death, rescuers said.

The Flenners had been estranged. According to the dead man's brother Flenner had threatened the lives of his wife and his 2-year-old daughter, Dorothy, and himself.

Examination of the body showed that Flenner was stabbed twice through the heart.

NEW HIGH MARK FOR BANKRUPTCY

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Connecticut set a new high record for bankruptcies in the government's fiscal year ending June 30, last, with 775 petitions filed for a total of $10,158,468 worth of liabilities. Sales of assets of the bankrupts brought in $1,133,430, or about one dollar in every ten. Of this amount general creditors received only $420,022.

New bankruptcies were added during the year faster than the referees could work out. The year saw 670 cases completed and the assets sold and proceeds distributed. When the year started the referees had 1,446 on their books, and when it ended the same books listed a total of 1,551 unfinished.

THEATER BOMB WAR IN AKRON

Explosives Hurlled Toward Buildings From Autos.

AKRON, O., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—War against theater bombers was renewed by police here today following attempts to blow up the Gem and Dayton neighborhood theaters last night.

The bombs were hurled toward the theater building from passing automobiles. In both instances, however, the bombs fell shy of their marks, causing more damage to nearby establishments than to the theater.

The bomb which was originally intended for the Dayton theater, landed in front of a confectionery store next door, causing approximately $200 damage. At the Gem, the bomb exploded between the theater building and the structures next to it.

The explosions mark the seventh and eighth in the three-month theater bombing war which resulted from a wage disagreement between motion picture operators and owners.

Snook Lawyers Outline Plans. Snook's lawyers, in filing motion for a new trial, will specify attention to the demonstration that came from the spectators at the conclusion of Chester's closing argument to the jury. There were more than 500 persons packed into a courtroom that seats only 200 and great throngs massed down the corridors straining to catch the sound of the prosecutor's voice.

For an hour Chester stood before the jury, mercilessly flaying Snook. He told the jury they should "extend the mercy to Snook that he extended to Theora Hix when he beat her down with the hammer and slashed her throat. "He even acted out the death scene. He had a detective lie flat on the floor while he illustrated to the jury the manner in which Snook "did away" with the coed. He called Snook a hound and a fiend and ended with a dramatic flourish, calling upon the jurors to bring back a verdict that "Ohio would be proud of."

The applause was vociferous. The court rapped for order and rebuked the spectators, telling them such a demonstration was "in contempt of court."

It was one of the most unusual occurrences ever witnessed in a courtroom and reflected the sentiment of the community toward the slayer of Theora Hix.

During a recent Sunday night Republican notices were posted in various parts of Dunganen, Ireland, but were removed early Monday morning by the police.

RIVERSIDES

8-Million Mile Test Each Year Equal to 320 Trips Around the World!

Guaranteed Life, 16,000 Miles. Average Life, by Actual Test, 24,879 Miles.

FREE Mounting Service at all stores

TAKE 25,000 miles, the distance around the world . . . multiply by 320 . . . and you get EIGHT MILLION MILES. That's the total test mileage traveled each year by the RIVERSIDE Fleet of test cars, which must prove to US what RIVERSIDE Tires will do—before we will allow those same tires to be sold to YOU . . .

Notice how our 16,000-mile-guaranteed RIVERSIDE actually performs under these tests. Accurate records kept on every tire tested show that the average mileage for these tires was 24,789 miles! Fifty-Five Per Cent More than the mileage Montgomery Ward & Co. guarantees!

Nor were these miles carefully-selected, smooth, concrete-pavement miles, either—rolled off under ideal driving conditions. They were miles such as the ordinary motorist rarely, if ever, travels. Through blazing heat, pouring rain . . . snow and ice. Over mud, clay and gravel roads—across deserts, up mountain trails, and in tangled city traffic . . . Tests that not only used, but abused—and even punished—every tire on every wheel . . . average daily mileage per car being 600 miles.

Even more remarkable, perhaps, than the average test-record of 24,789 miles, is the further fact that 35% of all RIVERSIDES tested ran over 30,000 miles . . . and 13% ran over 40,000 miles . . . an average, for 48% of these 16,000-mile-guaranteed RIVERSIDES, of 35,000 miles—OR OVER TWICE THE GUARANTEE! . . .

These aren't claims. They're performance FACTS, justifying ownership of RIVERSIDE Tires at ANY price. Note how much Ward's low prices, however, actually save you—and we feel sure your next tires will be these super-tested, 16,000-mile-guaranteed RIVERSIDES. Why not visit our store today—and see these astonishing tires for yourself?

NOTICE! Since the printing of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST of this week, which carried our Riverside Tire advertisement, prices have been reduced. The new prices are quoted above.

WYANT WINS THREE-HIT TILT AT WELLSVILLE

Chester Cops 4-1 Contest

West Virginians Wallop Ball Timely to Win.

PERC WYANT, in one of his occasional mound performances for Chester, last night pitched a three-hit game of ball at Wellsville; he was given almost airtight support by his mates; the West Virginia clubbing coterie packed plenty of punch; they hit when they needed them; all of which was more or less in contrast to the play of the home nine; and under those circumstances the McMath first half champs carried off a 4 to 1 conquest.

Young George Schneidmiller was on the hill for the losers and while he was touched for nine hits, at least a third of them were of the scratch variety.

As a result of their downfall the Nicholson club is two full games behind Laughlin, in first place, and the Kates are two and one-half.

Mike Cebula supplied the offensive punch that carried the Chester club to conquest last night.

Mike Patches Doubles. Mike Patches doubled in the first inning and in each instance Campbell was on ahead of him to score.

Cox, Simcox and Wyant collaborated in producing Chester's third marker; and a talk by Schneidmiller with Wyant on third accounted for the concluding Chester tally.

Campbell led off with a walk in the first inning and stole second scoring on Mike Cebula's double.

Wellsville knotted the count in the third.

Tobin ogled a walk out of Wyant and went to second on Schneidmiller's sacrifice. From that point he counted on Malone's single to center.

The Wellsville club had a glorious opportunity in this frame but couldn't make the most of it.

After Malone had driven Tobin in, Malley also singled to short left, Malley holding to second. G. Wagner got a walk and the bases were filled with one gone.

But Wyant steadied down and Cal Wagner popped out to Ty Connors at second and Lynch struck out.

The visitors went ahead in the fifth on Campbell's single, Parsons' sacrifice and Mike Cebula's two-baser to center which produced one run.

Clinch Game in Sixth. They further clinched the game in the sixth with a two-run attack as darkness gathered over the field.

Cox started it by beating out an infield hit. The ball struck Schneidmiller's foot and went rolling between first and second. Cox beat out the throw, after Schneidmiller had recovered the ball, by a step.

Simcox drove one down the third base line and Cebula made a great stop of it and a perfect peg to first sack. That put Cox on second and he remained there as Hunzelman lifted one out to C. Wagner on right. Cox dashed home on Wyant's single to center and the latter moved on to second on the throw.

Campbell lifted one into the air and it slipped through Schneidmiller's fingers, Wyant reaching third. From there he scored on Schneidmiller's balk. With Campbell on first, Schneidmiller started a quick peg to that bag but the sack was uncovered and the pitcher couldn't release the ball.

Talbot Twists Foot. Bill Talbot, Wellsville's slugger, first baseman, went onto the casualty list last night as a result of a twisted right ankle. Talbot's foot caught on the sack during the fielding practice prior to the game and it turned beneath his weight. He covered the bag during the first half of the opening inning and then gave way to Lynch.

Simcox made his first appearance of the season in a Chester uniform. He got a pair of infield singles and a sacrifice in three times up and guillotined a long distance catch in right center.

However, Cal Wagner in right produced the fielding highlight of the game in the fourth inning. Connors slugged one to right field. The ball, hugging the ground, went into the outpasture like a shot. Wagner fielded it quickly and snapped it to first to retire the hitter.

Tommy Malley and Malone were the only Wellsville hitters. Malley got two and Malone one.

INTER-CITY LEAGUE

Two games in front of the race as the half-way mark is passed in the Inter-City league's second half campaign. Laughlin will clash with the Kates tonight at Nicholson field, Wellsville.

By reason of the fact that Columbiana park has not been placed in condition to play ball following the carnival there a number of weeks ago, the Kates must choose other league diamonds as their home lots and so they are taking tonight's encounter to Nicholson field, Wellsville.

Despite the fact they are in third place, the Kates are very much in the race. They are two and one-half games behind Laughlin today, and have three more games to play with the West Virginians, including tonight's.

The clubs have split in their two meetings to date.

Tonight—Newell vs. K. T. K., at Wellsville.

Friday—K. T. K., at Wellsville.

At a session of league managers last night it was unanimously decided to make the starting time of games 5:45 o'clock, instead of 6 o'clock, as a result of the fact that the day light period is shortening. This will go into effect tonight. Visiting clubs will take their batting practice at 5:30 promptly.

YANKEE'S INVASION HARMLESS

The Farther They go The More They Lose.

By Henry McLemore.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 15.—What started out to be a determined invasion of the west by the Yankees seems to have turned in to nothing more than a sight-seeing tour.

For the farther the Hugmen go the more hopelessly they become entangled in the mire of second place.

Today they are sailing along 13 and 12 games in the rear of the Athletics, having dropped another yesterday when the Tigers took the first of a series, 17 to 13. The "Yankees" fielding, they make first errors, was plenty bad, but the band of pitching that Phipps, Hoyt, Zachary and Moore gave the champions was worse.

Walberg and Quinn having set him fine examples, Lefty Grove announced his return to form by pitching and winning a seventeen-innings affair with the Indians. Jim Fox's 28th home run and three additional hits in the 17th gave the Macks a 5 to 3 win. It was Grove's 18th victory of the season and his first win since July 25.

Milton Gaston shaded Sad Sam Gray, flinging ace of the Browns and Boston beat St. Louis, 4 to 1, in the series opener.

Washington scored seven runs in the first inning and went on to taken an 11 to 3 decision from the White Sox. Young Ed Walsh started for the Sox but was yanked after pitching to five batters without retiring any of them.

The Pirates lowered the Cubs' lead in the National to eight full games by defeating the Braves, 1 to 0, while the leaders were idle. It was a battle of southpaws with Percy Jones limiting the Bucs to three hits and Petty giving up but five.

Philadelphia trimmed Cincinnati in the first game of a scheduled double-header, 2 to 1. Rain ended the game at the end of the seventh inning. Don Hurst's 25th home run with one on gave the Nats their win.

New York and St. Louis and Brooklyn and Chicago remained idle on account of wet grounds.

Chester To Play Agathons

Textor to Show His Club Saturday at Smith Field.

George Textor's Massillon Agathons, one of the strongest semi-pro baseball clubs in this section of the country, and a club which has cradled many minor and major league stars, will clash with the Chester club of the Inter-City league Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Smith Field.

The Agathons are scheduled to tangle with the Bacharach Giants of the American Colored league Saturday night at 5 o'clock at Midland and will make it a double header by playing the West Virginians. By reason of the fact they will go into action at Midland at 5, it will be necessary to start the local game at 2.

Accompanying the Agathons here, according to announcement by Manager George Textor, will be Pitcher Earl Mosley, formerly with East Liverpool in the O. & P. league when Bill Phillips was handling the reins of the Ceramic City entry, and one of the Grimes brothers, who formerly played first for the Toledo club of the American association.

Textor also will have with him the two youngsters he last week sold to the Cleveland club of the American league. They are Huff, second baseman, and Sharkey, a pitcher.

The Agathons to date this season have won 64 and lost 17. And, at the present time, the Homestead Grays are the only club that holds an edge over the Onians in series play. Cum Posey's colorful stars have won eight out of 14 conflicts with the Steel town aggregation.

At present the Agathons are leading the race in the Allegheny county league in the Pittsburgh district and also are leading the Ohio association, formerly the P. & O. loop, in which they copied the title the last two seasons.

While Manager Les McMath of Chester will strengthen his club to some extent there will be no sweeping changes in the lineup.

Columbus Slab Staff Wobbly As St. Paul Bats In 13 Runs

Now is the time for all good pitchers to come to the aid of Columbus, which is facing badly in the American Association pennant race.

The Senators, who were once ballyhooed for a first division berth, lost another start yesterday when St. Paul's hearty sluggers batted out 13 runs, while the Senators could scratch out only two tallies. The Saints touched the two Columbus pitchers for 19 hits, which strengthens your correspondent's remark that the Senators need good pitchers badly.

Columbus is in sixth place and only one and one-half games ahead of Milwaukee.

There would have been a slight difference story to tell today if Milwaukee had won its contest yesterday, but Louisville, after 10 innings of honest-to-goodness base

INDEPENDENTS BOOK STUBBERS

Staubenville Odd Fellows, rated pretty highly in baseball circles in that district, will provide the opposition for the Wellsville Independents Saturday afternoon at Nicholson field, Wellsville.

The Staubenville aggregation holds victories over most of the clubs in their own district, including Toronto, Weirton, Pollansbee, Wellsburg, Mingo Junction and others.

They will have a strong lineup. Kosky will likely twirl for the Wellsville club.

The contest is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock.

And today the cost differential involved in owning the truly fine tire is little indeed.

For, thanks to the larger buying power which the popularity of Seiberling has developed for us—we offer you these truly fine tires at prices which are little, if any, more than you have paid in other years for tires of merely average quality.

Their first cost is little, if any, more—their final cost is, actually, far less.

"BIG GAME"

Story of a girl who thought love more powerful than society.

By Vida Hurst

But tonight she donned a smile as she had worn a mask the night before Mabel's wedding. Only her eyes betrayed her. They were tortured, bewildered, lost. She was thinking, "If only he would show in some way that it wasn't a dream." But there was no furtive pressure of the hand, no hidden glance. Nothing. When they separated she called a merry goodnight. But in her own room she sat for a long time without undressing. Realizing that now Bruce would be at home with Mabel. Kissing Mabel, perhaps! Oh, it was cruel. She was sorry now that anything had ever been said. Because after all he didn't really care. He had been "making a fool" of her.

That night Mona decided she knew why so much had been written and said concerning the evils of loving another woman's husband. She knew, too, why Bruce had said it was unfair to her. After all it wasn't Mabel who needed sympathy. She wasn't being deprived of anything. It was Mona who was forced to do without. Not only without his affection, but without his companionship, also. Mona, coldly reasonable, told herself it was what she deserved. She had known from the beginning that Bruce was Mabel's prey. It had been sportsmanlike for her to take a shot at him. "But I didn't," she argued, then. "All I wanted was his friendship. I wasn't trying to vamp him. Could not if I had tried." "It was fate," Mona sighed. "Nothing she could do! Nothing anyone could do now but ignore it and go on as if nothing had occurred."

This had been her original plan. She had not realized, however, that the process would hurt so much or be quite the cold-blooded affair Bruce seemed determined to make of it.

After two hours of floundering and uncertainty, she decided to go to bed. But in her dreams a phantom Bruce pursued her, repulsing her whenever she was ready to fall into his outstretched arms.

She was telephoning at 10 o'clock. "Bruce, this is Mona." "Oh, good morning, Mona! How are you today?"

"Not so well," she admitted, but her irritation melted at the sound of his eager voice. "What was the matter last night?" "I was afraid you wouldn't understand," Bruce said. "I'm sorry. I couldn't help it." "Well, but Bruce, I thought you were angry with me." "Angry with you?" he repeated so warmly that she caught her breath.

He added in a lower tone, "We shouldn't discuss this over the office telephone. What are you doing today? Can you meet me for lunch?"

She met him at the Nankin at 1 o'clock. His face looked haggard as if he, too, had not slept. "When they were seated, he said 'The situation is more difficult than I realized. I wish I hadn't let you in on it.' 'Are you inferring that you did not mean what you said?' 'Well, I had no idea,' she continued, sternly, 'that going on as if nothing had happened meant treating each other like strangers.' 'But that's what I tried to tell you. It isn't safe for me to be with you. When I see you and realize how I could love you it's all I can do to keep from setting you in my arms.'"

His face was ardent enough now. "What you think is coldness," he said, "is partly self-consciousness and partly an effort for control."

"Darling, don't make it any harder for me. I went thru tortures of last night. Seeing you so happy with Johnnie..."

At these words an uncontrollable joy swept Mona's heart. He had been suffering, too. It had hurt him to see her playing up to some one.

"Forgive me," she cried. "I was thinking only of my own side of it. And I was furious. I thought perhaps you didn't mean what you had said..."

His eyes met hers tenderly. "Haven't you any more confidence in me than that?"

No, she hadn't! Altho she was happier now. When the waiter had brought their order and left them again, she said, "I'm sorry, darling! I'm the one who hasn't kept my word. Calling you after all my brave resolutions..."

"I'm glad you did," he said. "Altho I think it's wiser if we don't do this again. Not because I wouldn't rather have lunch with you than anyone in the world, but if we're going to play the game, let's play it."

"You're right," she admitted. "I won't even telephone you."

"It's you I'm trying to protect," Bruce insisted. "Any attachment between us, no matter how innocent would be so unfair."

"I know," she faltered, eyes on her plate to hide the tears she was determined should not be permitted to fall.

"I think you're being awfully decent about it, Bruce," she said, finally. "And I agree with you at every point but one. I don't think it's necessary for us to avoid each other. Surely, when we are all together we can be friends as we used to be. And perhaps in time this infatuation we have now will sink back into the old satisfactory relationship."

"Do you think that's possible?" "Yes, I do. Neither of us has any illusions about the future. We know while things are as they are there is nothing we can do. I think eventually it's very possible that you may learn to care more for Mabel, yet still reserve the loyalty of a friend for me."

"And you?" he urged, smiling a little.

"Oh, it doesn't matter about me. You see I wouldn't marry you anyway..."

Bruce gasped. "You wouldn't marry me if I were free?"

"No, I wouldn't," Mona stated, calmly. "I think marriage is the most pernicious of institutions."

He stared at her, surprised. "You don't mean that, Mona?"

"Why not?"

"There's no use arguing it," Bruce said. "I haven't time and besides, under the circumstances, it's useless. But I do wish you wouldn't talk that way."

"Why, Bruce, you're angry!"

"Just a little peeved," he admitted. "Because I don't believe you are as devilish as you pretend to be!"

"Oh, all right!"

"I hope you aren't," he said. "I want to be able to think of you always as beautiful, pure and true. I must think of you so."

If only she had listened to him then. But Mona did not realize that in this moment Bruce had shown her his heart. Baring the secret of an idealism so intense it could not bear compromising...

As they parted he added, "I'm going to try very hard to be natural with you. I will give you the friendship you crave if such a thing is humanly possible."

"It will be easier as time goes on, Bruce. Let's not forget that we have said we love each other."

"I'll try," he promised.

Mona drove around Lake Harriet three times. She felt better. But she wasn't sure whether it was because they had reached a more satisfactory understanding or from the sheer joy of seeing him again.

Anyway, this should be the last time. They would be square and "play the game."

There was nothing wrong about their loving each other if they did not permit that love to affect their lives or the life of anyone connected with them. She went home feeling uplifted and virtuous.

She would read more and try to take an interest in something besides men. It would be necessary if she were to live up to his high opinion of her. And at the moment this was the only thing in the world she really wanted to do.

Mona settled herself in the living room with a box of chocolates and a book.

A fire blazed on the hearth. The room was the only one in which she felt comfortable, but she looked around, happily content to spend the evening here. Her father had not been home for dinner.

Ellen was out. She was pleasantly and satisfactorily alone.

Alone with thoughts of Bruce, who seemed to belong to her more now than when she was with him. When the door bell rang she frowned, deciding not to answer it. But Annie, who in Ellen's absence felt her duties heavy upon her, rushed to the door.

And, a moment later, Johnnie appeared.

"I took a chance on your being at home," he said.

Mona managed a smile. "Welcome to my fireside. Isn't it a wild and stormy night?"

"I dunno, is it?" Johnnie replied. Absently he gave his hat and coat to the waiting Annie. When she had disappeared he came to Mona's chair.

"You look like the cat who has swallowed somebody's pet canary."

"Me?" Mona cried, innocently. "I'm just sitting here reading."

Johnnie sat down beside her and said, earnestly, "I suppose I won't get any thanks for what I am about to impart, but I think you ought to know that I saw you this noon."

The color swept across Mona's face.

"Saw me? Where?"

"At the Nankin with Bruce. If you hadn't been so dizzy over each other you'd have seen me, too. I wasn't very far away."

Mona laughed but her heart was pounding.

"If you were so close why didn't you come and speak to us?"

"It would have taken more nerve than I have to interrupt that conversation. I'm surprised at you, Mona."

"See here, Johnnie Merrill! Don't try to lecture me! Why shouldn't Bruce and I have lunch together? We happened to meet on Nicollet and neither of us had eaten. I suppose we should have insisted on separate tables!"

Johnnie's eyes were dubious. She could see that he was taking her explanation with a grain of salt, wishing to believe, yet far from convinced.

"Just because you happen to be crazy about me," Mona continued, blithely, "is no sign that every other male is in that same condition."

"It wasn't your having lunch together so much as the way you looked," poor Johnnie muttered, truthfully.

"Oh, well, darling, of course Bruce and I are madly in love."

Fully aroused to the necessity for self-protection, Mona was prepared to use every weapon she possessed. She ran to Johnnie's side, slipping a coaxing hand into his.

"Don't be silly, Johnnie! It's only because you're jealous that you imagine things no one else would see."

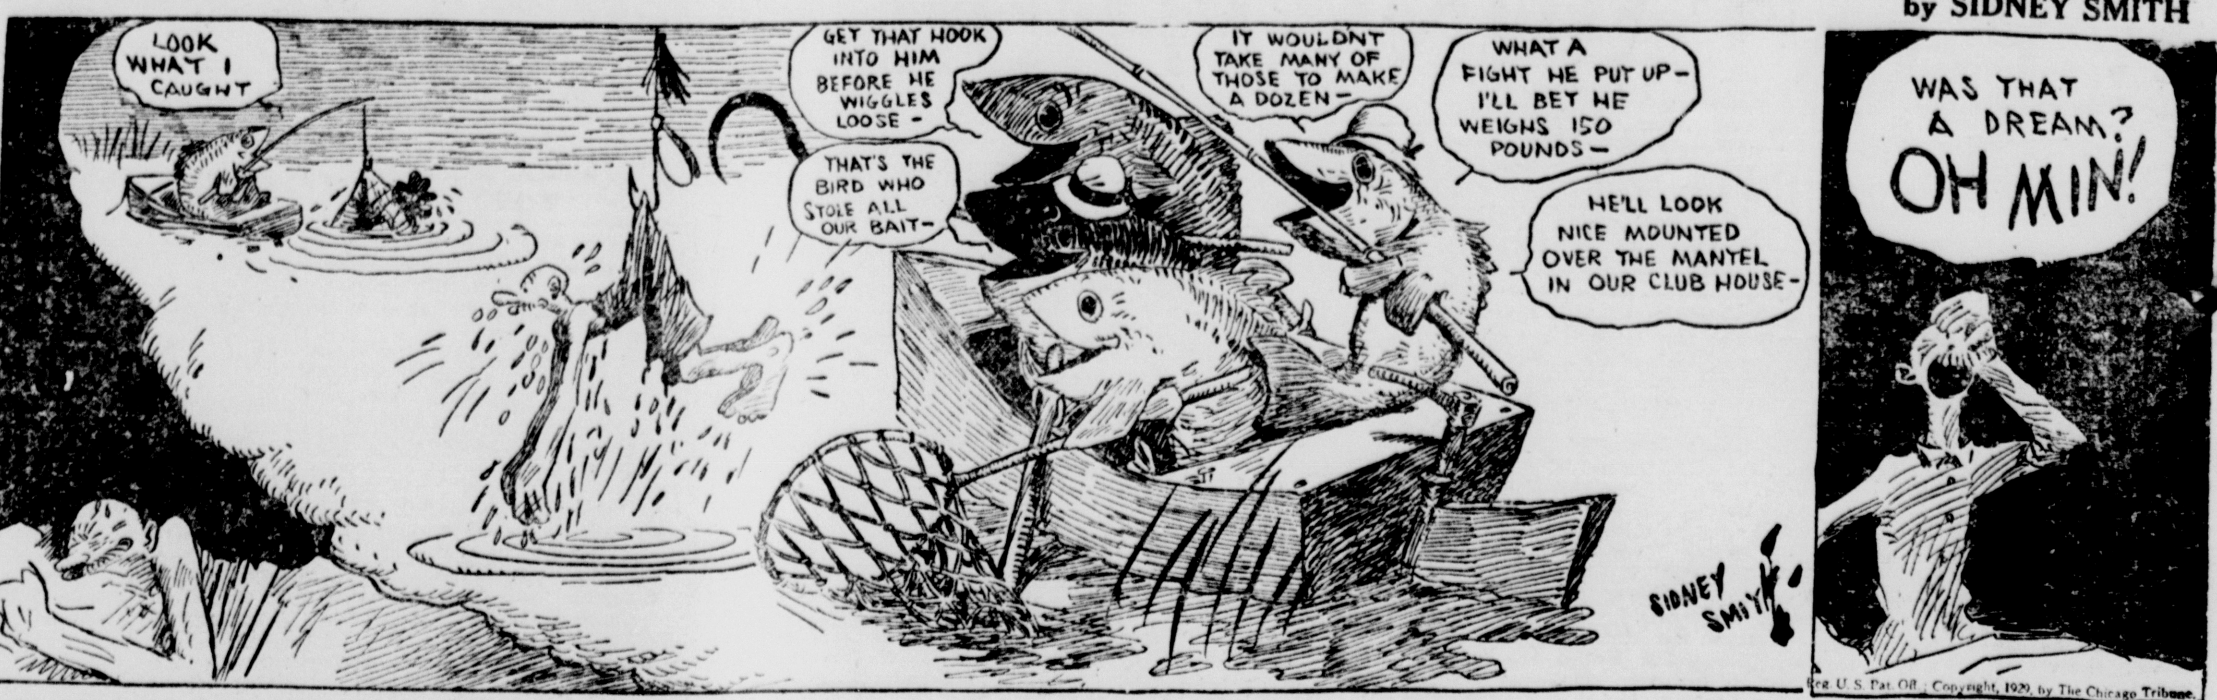

"I didn't imagine the way you were looking at each other," he repeated, but with less conviction.

"But, my dear, what reason would Bruce and I have for lunching at Nankin's? If we were trying to be clandestine we'd certainly go some place less public..."

"It's about as safe as any place," he commented, shrewdly. "It was only by chance I happened to see you. No one who knows in the habit of lunching there..."

Campolo and Heeney Clash at Ebbets Field.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Promotor Campolo and Tom Heeney clash tonight at Ebbets field. The bout, scheduled for last night, was postponed due to inclement weather. The weighing in process yesterday revealed that the South American giant will have an 18-pound advantage over Heeney. Promotor Campolo, however, authorized the announcement that he intends to petition the state athletic commission to instruct referees to waive disqualification powers for nor fouls. He hopes thus to eliminate unsatisfactory endings to bouts.
